I. Purpose

1.1 To establish the annual teaching and university service obligations of all members of the full-time faculty, see Policy 631 Faculty Categories.

II. Scope

2.1 The annual teaching obligation of all members of the full-time faculty

III. Workload Definitions

3.1 Faculty Workload: As described in policy 633 Faculty Rights and Responsibilities, faculty workload shall consist of a range of duties within the larger areas of instruction and instructionally related activities, service, and scholarship and creative activity.

3.2 The Faculty Workload Committee: Group assigned to ensure that workload assignments are equivalent across campus and appropriate in all academic disciplines.

3.3 The Faculty Workload Model: Addendum 635a contains equivalency definitions, class categorizations and workload formulae. These definitions, categorizations, and formulae will account for such variables as class size, the nature of instruction, laboratory or clinical contact time, artistic performance responsibilities, reassigned time for administrative duties, and other factors determined relevant by the Faculty Workload Committee. The model also details credit equivalencies for ongoing faculty reassignment.

3.4 Librarianship: Librarianship involves activities that facilitate information access.
3.5 Overload: When a contracted faculty member teaches more than the disciplinary distribution of workload in a semester, the faculty member shall be compensated with the appropriate contract outlined in Policy 643 Faculty Supplemental Compensation.

3.6 Summer Session Compensation: A separate formal agreement, limited to no more than 12 credits workload. Summer Session compensation is outlined in Policy 643 Faculty Supplemental Compensation.

3.7 The annual teaching obligation of all members of the full-time faculty. Dixie State College faculty workload has been set by the Utah Board of Regents at 27 credit hours or the equivalent each academic year. Typically the 27 credits are divided as follows: 15 credits in Fall semester and 12 credits in Spring semester. This annual responsibility may be fulfilled through a variety of duties. Workload for part-time faculty will be determined proportionally. Refer to Faculty Workload Model (https://files.dixie.edu/sites/hr/pl/policy/635a.docx?Web=1).

3.7.1 With the assistance of the department chairs and associate deans as appropriate, the academic dean makes all academic assignments.

3.7.1.1 The department chair and dean are responsible to evaluate the credentials of all persons teaching within their disciplines. If in the department chair’s opinion no qualified instructor is available, the instruction will not be offered.

3.8 As described in policy 633 Faculty Rights, faculty workload shall consist of both instructional and other duties, which shall include but not be limited to holding office hours per policy; serving on committees; student advisement; participating in department, division, institutional, and state-wide meetings and training sessions; curriculum development; program review; accreditation activities; commencement ceremonies; maintaining professional competencies; and being available to students and colleagues to conduct college business.

3.9 The Faculty Workload Model contains equivalency definitions and workload formulae. These definitions and formulae will account for such variables as class size, the nature of the instruction, laboratory or clinical contact time, artistic performance responsibilities, reassigned time for administrative duties, and other factors determined relevant by the committee. The Model also details credit equivalencies for ongoing faculty reassignments.

3.10 Summer Semester: Faculty members with full-time appointments may receive a separate summer semester contract limited to no more than 12 credits workload. Exceptions are subject to the approval of the Vice President.
Academic Services. Summer-only appointments may be made.

IV. Policy Overload

4.1 The Utah System of Higher Education (USHE) classifies Dixie State University as a Regional Comprehensive University. This classification means that our faculty workload is aligned with both Regents Policy R485-3 and our sister institutions classified as Regional Universities. Consequently, each tenure track faculty member is expected to complete 24 workload credits of instruction annually. In addition, faculty are expected to participate in service and scholarly and creative activities equivalent to six workload credits, for a total of 30 credits annually.

4.1.1 Academic Librarians substitute librarianship for instruction as outlined in Faculty Review Criteria for Academic Librarians addendum of Policy 641.

4.1.2 Clinical and Professional track faculty are expected to complete 30 workload credits of instruction annually in compliance with Policy 631 Faculty Categories.

4.1.3 With the assistance of the department chairs and associate deans as appropriate, the academic dean makes all academic assignments. Academic assignments will be agreed upon annually through the submission and acceptance of full-time faculty member’s Annual Faculty Activity Plan (AFAP).

4.1.4 The department chair and dean are responsible to evaluate the credentials of all persons teaching within their disciplines. If, in the department chair’s opinion, no qualified instructor is available, the course(s) will not be offered.

4.2 The Faculty Workload Committee conducts ongoing reviews of existing courses and establishes curricular criteria for categorizing all academic credit-bearing courses. The Faculty Workload Committee shall make recommendations regarding changes to the Faculty Workload Model to the Provost/VPAA and the Dean’s Council, after which the revised Faculty Workload Model will be sent to the Academic Council and Board of Trustees for approval.

4.3 Changes to the Faculty Workload Model may be implemented at the beginning of fall semester, but only after the revised Faculty Workload Model has been approved by Provost/VPAA, Academic Council, and the Board of Trustees.
4.4 If a proposed workload change primarily affects one academic entity, the department chair responsible for that area will serve as ad hoc member of the workload committee, voting only about the workload issue directly involving his/her department.

4.5 Each department chair or equivalent in consultation with the Faculty Workload Committee is responsible for conducting an annual review of all elements in the Workload Model that apply to his/her area of responsibility to ensure currency, fairness, and accuracy, and shall propose corrections or additions as needed.

4.6 No full-time faculty member shall be obligated to teach more than the disciplinary distribution of workload in a semester.

4.7 Full-time faculty member’s overload shall be limited to a maximum of five (5) credits per academic year. Exceptions to overload limits are subject to written approval of the Provost/VPAA.

4.8 Summer Session Compensation: A separate formal agreement for summer session compensation limited to no more than 12 credits workload. Summer Session compensation is outlined in Policy 643 Faculty Supplemental Compensation. Exceptions are subject to the approval of the Provost/Vice President of Academic Affairs (VPAA). Summer-only appointments may be made.

4.9 When a contracted faculty member teaches more than the disciplinary distribution of workload in a semester, the faculty member shall be compensated with an overload contract at current adjunct faculty rates.

4.10 No full-time faculty member shall be obligated to teach more than the disciplinary distribution of workload in a semester.

4.11 When all faculty base salaries remain within 10% of equity benchmarks, each faculty member’s overload shall be limited to one (1) course with a maximum of five (5) credits per academic year. When all faculty base salaries are not within 10% of equity benchmarks, each faculty member’s overload shall be limited to two (2) courses with a maximum of 10 credits per academic year. Exceptions to overload limits are subject to the written approval of the Vice President Academic Services.
